Mackerel Notes.

Schs. Mildred S. Nunan with 37,000 pounds of fish and Mary E. Smith with swordfish arrived at Portland on Tuesday.

At Yarmouth Monday the netters average two barrels each.
At Liverpool the same day the traps took 100 barrels.
At Lunenburg one trap had 500 mackerel.
A report from Alberton states that mackerel are reported schooling off North Cape.
Mackerel are reported fair at Shippegan and scarce at Margaree.

Fishing Fleet Movements.

Sch. Samoset arrived at Port Hawkesbury on Monday.

Dogfish on Grand Bank.

The incoming bunkers report dogfish on Grand Bank.

Good Stock.

Sch. Slade Gorton, Capt. George E. Heckman, stocked $2931 on her recent seining trip.

July 22

CAPT. HINES BIG STOCK.

Gets $9500 on First Trip of His New Craft.

Sharesmen Profit to the Extent of $369 88 Each.

The banner salt cod trip of the season thus far is that recently landed by the new sch. Hazel R. Hines, Capt. Lovitt E. Hines of this port. This craft arrived a few days ago from the Grand Bank with a big trip of salt cod and as the result of her maiden voyage made the splendid stock of $9464.69, the average share being $241.88 while the sharesmen each got $369.88 as their part of the splendid voyage.

Capt. Hines is one of the best known skippers hailing from this port and can always be counted on for a big fare. Year after year he has gone on in the salt bank fishery, always bringing in the biggest kind of fares and always landing his fish at this port. Few men, if any, have landed more salt cod than he in his long term of years as skipper and he is today one of the most successful codfishermen on the North Atlantic coast.

FOUGHT SWORDFISH.

Two of Crew of Str. Petrel Had Exciting Experience.

A dispatch from Nantucket, recently, says: The fishing steamer Petrel, Captain Arthur C. Manter, returned Thursday from a day's trip, breaking all previous records for one day's work.

Soon after passing the island of Tuckerneck on the way out, a small school of swordfish was sighted, and ten were captured.

Mate Barrett and Charles Thomas had an exciting encounter with one of the smallest of the lot after it had been struck. They were "hauling line," when the fish suddenly turned and drove its sword through the bottom of the dory, boring a large hole, through which the water began to pour. Hastily removing their canvas mittens the men plugged up the opening and again attacked the ugly captive, this time killing and bringing it alongside.

OVER $9000.

Sch. Lucinda I. Lowell Makes a Big Salt Bank Stock.

Sch. Lucinda I. Lowell, Capt. Warren Forber, stocked $9,100 on the result of her recent salt bank trip, the crew sharing $330. This is the second largest stock of the season thus far in this fishery. Capt. Forber is a hustler, who during the last few years has been making a fine record for himself and fairly won a place among the leading salt bank skippers.

BIG BANK FARE.

Sch. Elizabeth N., of Bucksport, Bound Here with $25,000 Pounds

Sch. Elizabeth N., Capt. Roderick McNeill, arrived at Bucksport, Me., her home port, yesterday and the craft will now come here with her big fare of 325,000 pounds of salt cod, the trip having been bought by William F. Moore & Co., of this city.

Another Quick Trip.

Sch. Kineo, Capt. John Stream, arrived from Georges this morning after an absence of but 14 days with a fair trip of halibut and codfish. Capt. Stream reports that he never before saw the tide of Georges running as strongly as it was this trip. He was out in the shoal water on the northeast part of the bank, and says that the tide was so strong that it would take their great heavy barrel buoys fairly under and that it would rush over the bow of a dory, pulling trawls against the current. The handliners whom he saw were all under sail and all reported that the tide was so strong that they really could not fish.

Caught a Halibut.

Hon. Sylvanus Smith, while out fishing in Ipswich Bay yesterday in his launch, caught a halibut weighing 30 pounds.

Bank Cod Sale.

The fare of sch. Lawrence A. Munroe sold to Cunningham & Thompson at Board of Trade prices.

Fine Stock.

Sch. Dictator, Capt. Lemuel Spinney, stocked $3404 on her recent fresh codfish trip, the crew sharing $88.46 clear.

FINE STOCK.

Sch. Nourmahal Gets Over $5000 on Quick Seining Trip.

Sch. Nourmahal, Capt. Wallace Parsons, stocked $5066.89 on her recent 13 days seining trip, the crew sharing $123.46. This fine stock will put Capt. Parsons right up among the very leaders in the race for high line of the mackerel fleet.

Big Horse Mackerel.

A horse mackerel measuring 12 feet and weighing 600 pounds was caught in the Tarr trap at Magnolia yesterday. It was one of the largest ever seen here. The fish was sold to the Gloucester Fresh Fish Company, who will ship it to Boston.

DAILY TIMES FISH BUREAU.

Mackerel Notes.

Three fine trips of salt mackerel are at this port today, all from Georges. Sch. Lewis H. Giles, Capt. Roy Kimball, has 360 barrels, sch. Lena and Maud, Capt. John W. McFarland, 290 barrels, and sch. Arbutus, Capt. Joseph J. Lyle, 250 barrels. Sch. S. F. Maker is also in with 140 barrels.

The fare of sch. Natalie B. Nickerson was bought by George Perkins & Son at $12.25 per barrel for rimmed and $12 for plain fish.

Mr. Charles E. Dyer, a veteran mackerel catcher and buyer of Portland, writes to a friend in this city that he has received word from no less than eight places along the Maine coast, of small mackerel schooling. He has been buying some of them salted and states that they run between 900 and 1000 count to the barrel.

The fare of salt mackerel, 207 barrels, shipped home from North Bay by sch. F. W. Homans, arrived here yesterday.

The seiners which arrived from Georges this morning report that no fish have been seen or taken by the fleet there since Sunday. On that day only eight out of a fleet of 52 vessels got fish. The fleet have about all left Georges, most of them going in the direction of the Bay of Fundy.

The fare of sch. Lena and Maud sold to Fred L. Davis and Reed & Gamage and that of sch. S. F. Maker to Reed & Gamage, all at $12 per barrel.

Fishing Fleet Movements.

Sch. Samoset arrived at Port Hawkesbury on Monday.

Sch. Lucinda I. Lowell is taking salt for her second bank trip.

MACKEREL FOUND AGAIN.

Seiners Strike Schools on Southeast Part of Georges.

THE FISH WERE VERY WILD.

Sch. Diana at This Port Today with a Big Fare.

Late news from the mackerel fleet is of an encouraging nature. The vessels which chased the schools to the northern edge of Georges bank and found the fish going northeast in the direction of the Bay of Fundy, naturally felt, after staying there a few days and finding that no schools showed, that the fish had left the bank, and went searching for them in other directions. Some went to the Bay of Fundy, while others went back on the bank, striking down on the southwestern part. Those who went in this direction found the fish.

Schs. Natalie J. Nelson and one other craft were the first ones to find them, in the fog on Monday but the fish were in small schools and very wild and not much could be done with them. The next day was very foggy and there was nothing doing. On Wednesday, the fish showed in great red schools, but, as before, they were very wild and it was next to impossible to do anything with them. The seiners kept coming to the spot and when it cleared away in the afternoon, there were 24 sail on deck and all banging away at the great wild schools. Many of the crafts set all day with both seines, but did not stop a fish, while six or seven were more fortunate and got a good day's fishing, among the latter being schs. Marguerite Haskins, Kentucky and Lucania. Among the fortunate ones were schs. Natalie J. Nelson, Miranda and Diana, these three having arrived home.

The place where the vessels were fishing was very near where the hauls were made ten days or more ago, before the fleet began to chase the fish to the other edge of the bank, only to see them disappear. It was about 30 miles south by east from the southern edge of the big shoal and 105 or 110 miles east by south from the South Shoal lightship. Seiners ing skippers who have heard about these fish being there," said this morning that they believed that these were mackerel just striking on the bank and that they were inclined to think that they were the body of fish or part of them seen some little time ago 10 miles southeast of No Man's Land by sch. Richard Lester, which craft got a haul at the time and landed them fresh at Newport.

Sch. Natalie J. Nelson, Capt. Joshua W. Stanley, arrived at Boston yesterday from the southeast part of Georges with 8500 fresh mackerel. He struck a bare market and received 16 cents each for the fish, making a good stock. The Nelson was only out six days.

The catch of salt mackerel to date is practically equal to last year, 17,987 barrels being landed up to last night, against 18,094 barrels at the same time last year.

Thus far this season 42,000 barrels of fresh mackerel have been landed against 50,000 barrels at this time last year.

The imports of salt mackerel thus far this year have been only 888 barrels against 11,000 barrels at this time last season.

Sch. Annie M. Parker was at Boston yesterday with 205 barrels of salt mackerel.

The supply of fish landed at Portland on Thursday consisted principally of numerous fairly good catches of tinker mackerel brought in by small boats. The tinkers are being caught in good quantities along the coast to the westward as well as in the vicinity of Portland and the fishermen reported that they seem to be increasing in numbers and are coming well in shore. It is considered as an indication that the mackerel season will be a great success as tinkers are the desirable size of mackerel and always precede the larger schools. It has been many years since the tinkers were taken in very large quantities and this is attributed to the dog fish. Recently there has been little complaint from the fishermen on account of the dog fish which are said to have left that vicinity, for some unknown reason.

NEWS OF SQUID.

Desired Bait Fish at Last Make Their Appearance.

Reported Off Canso and on Southern Part of Grand Bank.

News of the appearance of squid, for which the salt bankers have waited so long, has at last been received and the skippers feel a little more encouraged to start on their second trips.

Capt. Newman Wharton of sch. Norma, which arrived from Grand Bank last night, reports that while on the way home and lying becalmed off Canso, N. S., a few days ago they sighted some schools of squid and putting over their jigs had no trouble in jigging some.

Capt. Charles Forbes of sch. Harry A. Nickerson, which arrived this morning, brings the first news of squid on the Grand Bank this season, having seen some on the southern part of the bank, in latitude 44.30 just before leaving for home.
